YSS Bulletin

A quick update from the Young Statisticians Section

Exeter Early-Career Stats Showcase

It goes without saying that we all love statistics, and listening to early-career statisticians from different fields talking about their jobs is proving to be an extremely popular YSS event.

Our careers event in Exeter on 11 February was no exception, with over 70 attendees!

Read a review of the evening here, and don't forget to check out videos of the talks and Q&A on YouTube! (Search for "Exeter Early-Career Stats Showcase" or click here.)

YSS Network – Goals for 2015

Following our 2014 initiative to recruit a "YSS rep" onto each local group & section committee, we are looking this year to set up many more joint events (including webinars), and to encourage RSS fellows to sign up as "STEM Ambassadors" via STEMNET.

For more details, contact YSS Chair Tim Paulden at tim.paulden@atass-sports.co.uk, or come along to the special breakout session at the upcoming RSS Section and Group Officers Meeting on Tuesday 24 March.

Early-Career Statistician Profile

Özgür Asar - PhD Student in Statistics and Epidemiology at CHICAS, Medical School, Lancaster University.

"I believe that every statistician should get experience with dirty, messy and incomplete real life data sets"

Learn more about Özgür and read other profiles from early-career statisticians here. (Get in touch to contribute your own profile!)
