

YSS Bulletin

A quick update from the Young Statisticians Section

Your new-look YSS Committee

Following our elections at the end of 2016, we are excited to welcome several new members to the YSS Committee! To find out more about us, please take a look at our committee profiles.

Many thanks to all of our outgoing committee members for their significant contributions to the YSS during their time with the Section.

To stay up-to-date on what we're up to, you can come and find us on Twitter & Facebook, join our free mailing list, and visit our website. You can also email us at youngstatisticianssection@gmail.com. We look forward to seeing you at an event soon!

The Statistical Excellence Award for Early Career Writing

Can you tell a statistical story in an entertaining and thought-provoking way?

Write a 1,500-2,500 word article on a subject of your choice, and you could have the chance to be published in Significance magazine – and to present your work at the 2017 RSS Conference.

If you think you've got what it takes, and you're in the first ten years of your statistical career, we want to hear from you! Closing date 29th May.

Join us at our Statistics Showcase!

Statistics Showcase 2017
London, 30th June

The YSS Statistics Showcase is a chance for young statisticians to find out about a wide range of statistical careers. The event will open with a morning training session followed by an afternoon showcase with a number of talks exploring a diverse range of statistical fields. The event will close with a wine reception. Further details will be confirmed and registration will open soon! To register your interest email youngstatisticianssection@gmail.com
